Austin Ban

I am a developer, designer, & storyteller.

Story Time

I grew up in Santa Fe, and if you're homeschooled in Santa Fe like I was, you learn how to make your own fun. So I started avidly consuming Youtube tutorials, event planning, selling vintage at flea markets, and video editing. All of this led me to move to Nashville to pursue a computer science degree with a minor in entrepreneurship.

Now that I have graduated, I am a freelance developer for a few companies, host storytelling events, and intern at WELD, a co-working space. Forever a student at heart, I'm still consuming tutorials and stretching myself every day.
